Choosing a color-correction filter Photoshop includes a series of _filters_ —complex tools that make changes to an image. That's because filters can be used to make minor corrections to your photo and also to create a whole new image with a new look. Filters also enable you to create unique effects — filter effects are unique to Photoshop and are not found in other graphics programs. Each filter makes changes in a particular way, based on your input settings. Filters such as the ones shown in Figure 6-1 can be used to change the overall look of an image. For example, in Figure 6-1, I applied the Grain filter and then increased the Sharpen filter until it reached its maximum strength. To start this exercise, choose Filter⇒Artistic⇒Grain. The top four filters in Figure 6-1 are ones that I use often. With my settings, I can take my image and make a subtle change by applying a filter with an impact on color. A good example of that is Filter⇒Artistic⇒Desaturate. You also have lots of other options to choose from for changing the look of images, including Grayscale, Adjust Color, Adjust Color, Levels, Curves, Recolor, and so on. (A listing of all the filters is in Appendix B.) Some of them give you more control and enable you to make more serious changes. Others are designed to give you a quick and easy fix.

Q: How can I get the content and the node/entity formatter in the same line? How can I get the "content" formatter next to the "node" or "entity" formatter in the admin form in D6? A: There are two separate modules for this. The relevant module is EntityFormatterForm (disclaimer, I'm the author of the module). It's documented, and enabled by default in Drupal 7. It's a direct port of the instructions at the bottom of this screenshot: The admin panel automatically changes depending on the currently logged in user (admin, reviewer or normal user). This means that even if you added it to a custom menu, the admin panel would show only one of these options. You can provide a formatter per content type. How you do that depends on your version of Drupal, but at least with Drupal 6, you'd do it like so: function YOURTHEMENAME_form_alter(&$form, &$form_state, $form_id) { if ($form_id == 'entityform_node_node_form') { $form['format_admin_content_type']['format_admin_content_type_content_type'] = array('#theme' => 'entityformatter_form_admin_content_type_content_type', '#content_type' => $form['#node_type'], '#title' => t('Content Type'), '#formatter' => 'format_admin_content_type_content_type', '#nested' => TRUE); } } You can add this to your custom menu directly by going to admin/build/menu/items, and adding a menu item for that formatter. The correct values for the content type would be in $form['#node_type'] as you'd specified in the Drupal 7 code. So if you wanted to just get a content type formatter, you'd use EntityFormatterForm to add them to the administration menu. Q: How to generate certificate signing request in dev mode? Several investigators identified mutations in the Leucine-rich repeat kinase 2 (LRRK2) gene that cause familial forms of Parkinson disease (PD). LRRK2 encodes a protein of 2735 amino acids that is expressed mainly in the brain and contains two GTPase domains, GTPase associated and WD-repeat domains. The encoded protein is implicated in the pathogenesis of PD, as several studies suggest that LRRK2 is linked to PD pathogenesis. This review will summarise the pathogenic effects of LRRK2 G2019S in the context of the proteins main role and the considerable research efforts being devoted to understanding how this mutation leads to neurodegeneration.package org.hisp.dhis.common.valuechangers; /* * Copyright (c) 2004-2020, University of Oslo * All rights reserved. * * Redistribution and use in source and binary forms, with or without * modification, are permitted provided that the following conditions are met: * * Redistributions of source code must retain the above copyright notice, this * list of conditions and the following disclaimer. * * Redistributions in binary form must reproduce the above copyright notice, * this list of conditions and the following disclaimer in the documentation * and/or other materials provided with the distribution. * * Neither the name of the HISP project nor the names of its contributors may * be used to endorse or promote products derived from this software without * specific prior written permission. * * THIS SOFTWARE IS PROVIDED BY THE COPYRIGHT HOLDERS AND CONTRIBUTORS "AS IS" AND * ANY EXPRESS OR IM
